DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ueda et al. (USPN 5838400) in view of Grande et al. (USPN 5851709).

Regarding claim 1, Ueda teaches a substrate which is made of multi-layered flexible pad pattern via holes for electric connection. Ueda discloses a type of substrate, which also consists a surface conductor layer, and has electrical connection through holes. See column 5, lines 9-24. Specifically Ueda teaches a multi layer flexible substrate (FPC2) with its electrical connection through anisotropic conductive film (ACF1). See col. 19, lines 40-51 and Fig. 12A. Ueda does not teach the use of a single laminar substrate with electrically conducting patterns on opposite sides connected via opening such that at least one opening is proximate the pixels. Grande on the other hand teaches the use of a substrate (100), having opposing first and second surfaces and characterized by an opening (114) through which transfer of color forming layer (336) is indicated by dotted arrows aligned with pixels (332). See col. 9, lines 23-45 and Fig. 4D.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Ueda's liquid crystal display system to adapt Grande's substrate (100) as arranged in Fig. 4D. One would have been motivated in view of the suggestion in Grande that a substrate (100) along with an opening (114) and pixels (332) as illustrated in Fig. 4D equivalently provides the desired single laminar substrate with at least one opening proximate to the pixels. The use of a substrate (100) helps function electroluminescent display devices as taught by Grande et al.

Regarding claim 2, Ueda teaches shield casins metal frame. Ueda also teaches electronic parts related to shield casins mounted in a flexible substrates the portion of which is composed of conductor. See column 4, lines 41-44.

Regarding claim 3, Ueda teaches a conductor layer L3, which is gold plated. See column 14, lines 57-59.

Regarding claims 4-5, and 8, Ueda teaches that multi layer flexible substrate has its portion made of conductor layers, which is electrically connected with insulating substrate through conductive film. See column 4, lines 24-30.

Regarding claim 6, Ueda teaches a display device with flexible substrate. See column 4, lines 5-14.

Art Unit: 2674

Regarding claim 7, Ueda teaches the wiring substrate which is made of multi-layered flexible substrate producing increased wiring density and increases pattern of conductor. See column 6, lines 34-45.

Regarding claim 9, Ueda teaches applying a voltage to common transparent pixel electrode relative to configuration of substrate (sub 1) and (substrate sub 2). See column 16, lines 49-56.

Regarding claim 10, Ueda teaches liquid crystal display device with thin film. See column 1, lines 29-43.

Conclusion

3. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
